THE SPRAY ARRIVED.

The yacht Spray, which has been purchased by Messrs. Sproull, Paty and others, arrived from San Francisco this morning, on the barkentine W H Dimond, in fine order. She is a very trim looking vessel, and her cabin is fitted up in elegant style. The Spray is painted white with a red line. Her record on the Coast is an excellent one, and there is no doubt she will be able to maintain it in Hawaiian waters.

DEATH OF MRS. KEEGAN.

Mrs. Margaret Keegan died at half-past one o'clock this morning at her residence, Nuuanu street, after a lingering illness. The deceased, who was a native of Trim, County Meath, Ireland, came here with her husband Thomas Keegan in 1850. He was a slater and brick mason and died about seventeen years ago. The deceased lady kept the light-house store on Nuuanu street over which she died, for a number of years. She leaves two sisters, one residing in Ireland, the other in New York. Mrs. Keegan who was 69 years 2 months and 9 days old at the time of her death, was a devout Catholic and will be buried from the Roman Catholic Cathedral at 4 o'clock this afternoon.

DEATH OF A HERO.

Commander Hockins of H. B. M. flag ship Swiftsure, died after two weeks' illness at Victoria, B. C. He was a native of Devonshire, England, and although only 37 years old had seen considerable service. Engaged in a cutting-out expedition on the coast of Africa he rescued from Arab slavers the body of a murdered shipmate. He took part in the Egyptian war and was present at the battle of Tel-el-Kebir. Commander Hockins showed himself a true hero lately at a port on the South American Coast. A boatload of visitors to the Swiftsure was upset and seventeen persons thrown into the water. Hockins jumped overboard in full uniform to assist in the work of rescue, and all were saved except one young girl.

Four drunks had to pay the usual amount.

BRIDAL WREATHS.

A Quiet Wedding at St. Andrew's Cathedral this Afternoon.

At three o'clock this afternoon Mr. J. N. S. Williams, the engineer and contractor, and Miss Nina Green, daughter of His Excellency the Minister of Finance, were united in marriage at St. Andrew's Cathedral in the presence of relatives and friends, besides many others. The chancel of the Cathedral was very tastefully decorated with a profusion of lovely flowers, potted plants and evergreens. On the altar stood two immense bouquets of white flowers. The altar rail was twined with evergreens and wreaths of flowers. At the end of the choir seats facing the nave stood choice potted palms and ferns. On the front of the pulpit hung choice bouquets. The whole of the decorations, which were in charge of the Misses May and von Hot, were in exceedingly good taste. The ceremony was performed by the Revs. Alexander Mackintosh and George Wallace. As the bride entered the church Mr. Wray Taylor played a wedding march. The choir of the second congregation sang the marriage psalm and also the hymn "How welcome was the call."

The bride was attired in a handsome costume of white silk mulle with white bonnet, and carried a bouquet of flowers. The bridesmaids were the Misses Constance Mist, Dora Dowsett and Edith Mist, all cousins to the bride. They were dressed in plain white muslin dresses with straw hats, and each had different trimmings of green, yellow and blue. The groomsmen were Messrs. J. M. Monsarrat, Wilhelm Lanz and Herbert Mist. The bride was given away by her uncle, Mr. Alex. McKibbin. As the bridal party left the cathedral after signing the register the organ pealed forth the Mendelssohn Wedding March.

A reception is being held at the residence of the bride's parents, after which the happy pair go to Waikiki until Friday, when they leave for the Coast on the Umattilla to be absent two or three months. The BULLETIN joins in wishing them many happy years of wedded bliss.

THE CHEER OF THE TRENTON.

[Walter Mitchell in the New York Sun.]

Our anchors drag and our cables surge
At every shock of the lurching sea;
While the mist of the breakers veils the verge
Of the reef of coral under our lee.

From the east by north to the north-west
The wild typhoon veers sweep on sweep,
And from moment to moment the cross wave's crest
Buries our waist in its sidelong leap.

Under the blows of our plunging screw
The whitening breakers foam and churn,
But for all that steam and steel can do
We are drifting slowly astern! astern!

On our starboard quarter close aboard
We see the staunch Calypso loom,
While the black flood, from the smoke-stack poured,
Covers the sea like a pall of doom.

Her topmasts struck and her yards braced sharp
She is headed out for the open main,
While her shrouds, like the strings of a giant's harp
Scream to the touch of the hurricane.

We from our flagship Trenton's decks
Are watching her battle in hope and dread,
As she threads the throng of tossing wrecks,
Now beaten backward, now forging ahead.

She with the red cross ensign aloft,
And we, our banner bary below,
Lie beam to beam, as the frigates oft
Ranged in old sea fights long ago.

We watch the weight of the tempest fall
On her flooded decks and her reeling bow,
And our hearts are beating one and all
For we both go down should she foul us now.

Through the darkest night there's a gleam to break;
Fathoms by fathoms she forges past,
Till we know by the swirl of her eddying wake
That her seaward struggle is won at last.

The Admiral tosses his sea cap high,
As from station to station is passed the word,
And over the uproar of wave and sky
The thunder roll of our cheers is heard.

And back from the Briton's taffrail came
The gallant, grateful, and proud reply,
That stirred our hearts like a pulse of flame,
The seaman's and brother's last good-by.

Oh blood is thicker than water, and long
Will England's memory hold it dear,
And the tale be told in fo'castle song
Of the flagship Trenton's parting cheer.

BON VOYAGE.

The S. S. Umattilla which sails on Friday at noon carries away a large number of passengers.

Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Waterhouse are going through to Paris, to visit the Exposition, where they will meet their son Mr. J. T., Jr. They expect to be absent some five or six months. Mr. Waterhouse, sr., has crossed the Atlantic sixty-four times, which is a pretty good record for a man in the prime of life.

Mrs. Frank Eaton, who has been visiting the Hon. and Mrs. J. S. Walker and family the past three months, returns to her home in San Francisco.

Miss S. V. Hopper, of the staff of the Kawaiahao Female Seminary, will spend her vacation in the States.

Miss Emma C. Smith, sister of Hon. W. O. Smith, is going East on a visit, to be absent a year.

Mr. and Mrs. C. Livingstone and family leave for San Francisco. Mr. Livingstone, who has been connected with Spreckels' bank for a long time past, is undecided as to his movements after reaching the Coast.

Capt. and Mrs. T. H. Hobron are going to be absent in California for a few months, for the benefit of the Captain's health, which it is hoped will improve. Their son Thomas W. accompanies them.

Mr. Frank P. Hastings, U. S. Vice and Deputy Consul-General, and Mrs. Hastings are going to Maine on a visit to Mr. Hastings' mother. They will also visit most of the larger cities in the East and be away from two to three months.

Mr. J. A. Hopper and her daughter Miss Ellen will go to San Francisco, and may visit the East. The length of their absence depends somewhat on Mr. Hopper's movements.

Miss Addie Peterson is going to spend a short vacation on the Coast.

Dr. A. B. Carter and wife are going right through to New York on a visit to the doctor's relatives.

Hon. Geo. H. and Mrs. Dole and family leave to take up their permanent residence at Riverside, San Bernardino county, California, where Mr. Dole has purchased a ranch.

Rev. W. H. Barnes and wife, of Lahaina, go direct to England. Mrs. Barnes is in poor health, and her parents, who were here a short time ago, advised her to go home for a change. She may stay there for an indefinite period. Mr. Barnes returns in four months.

Mr. and Mrs. J. N. S. Williams are going to spend their honeymoon in California. They were only married this afternoon, particulars of the event appearing elsewhere. Mr. Williams will attend to some business matters while away.

Mr. W. O. Faulkner, Superintendent of the Electric Light station, and wife are going direct to Boston, Mass., to visit Mr. Faulkner's parents who are in somewhat feeble health.

P. A. Engineer J. M. Pickrell of the U. S. Navy returns on the Umattilla. On Friday morning at 10:30 o'clock he will be united in marriage to Miss Eva Putnam, daughter of Hon. J. H. Putnam, U. S. Consul-General. On arriving in San Francisco Mr. Pickrell will go on board the new cruiser Charleston and remain there until her final trial trip. He will then be appointed to land duty for three years. His bride will be much missed from society circles here.

Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Schmidt go direct to Bremen where their sons are at school. They will visit different parts of Germany and be absent an indefinite period.

Hon. P. N. Makee is going for a short trip through California.

Mrs. D. Noonan after a lengthened visit in the islands returns to her home at Chico, California.

Miss Maggie McIntyre, eldest daughter of Capt. A. McIntyre, leaves on a visit to numerous friends in San Francisco, to be absent about two months.

Mrs. F. L. Winter will spend several months in California for the benefit of her health.

Mrs. Tweedie returns to her home in Canada after a visit of several months in the islands.
